

Coordinating Conjunctions

ELA.4.C.3.1

Contents

Coordinating Conjunctions

FANBOYS!

Let's practice

Coordinating Conjunctions!

These amazing words connect other words, phrases, and sentences, creating a fluent communication of ideas.

FANBOYS!

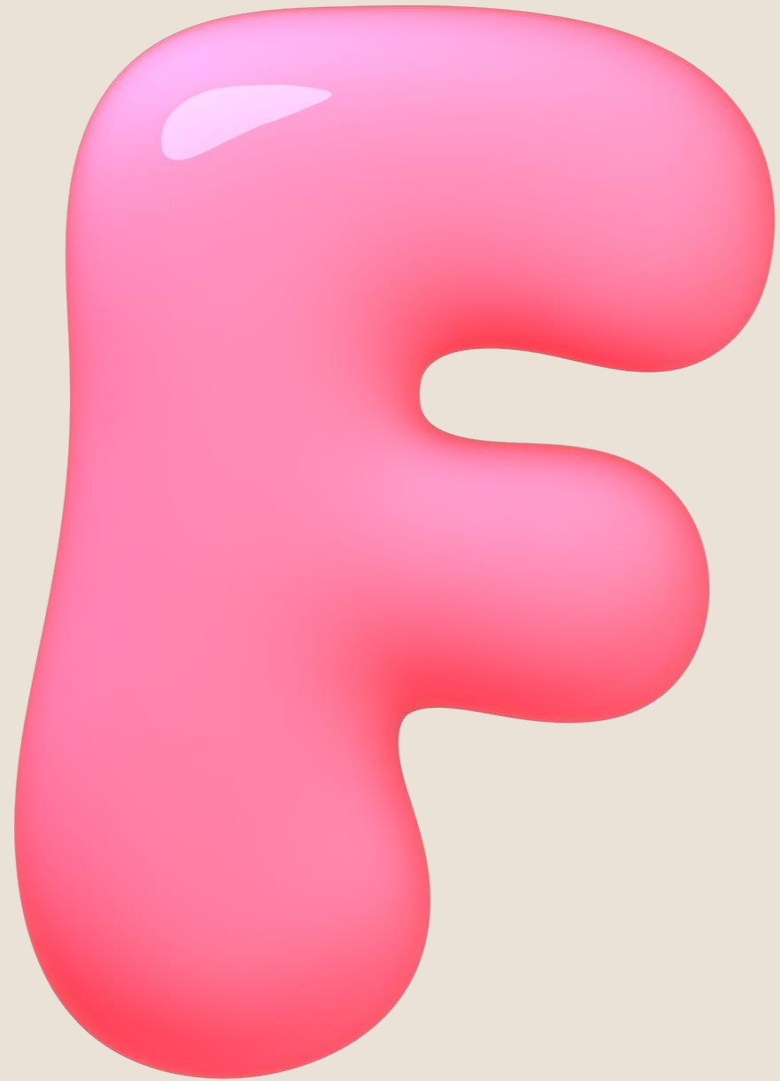

Have you heard of acronyms? These are abbreviations created with the first letters of other words. FANBOYS is in fact an acronym, to help us remember the coordinating conjunctions!

FOR

“For” is used to explain a reason and essentially means “because.”

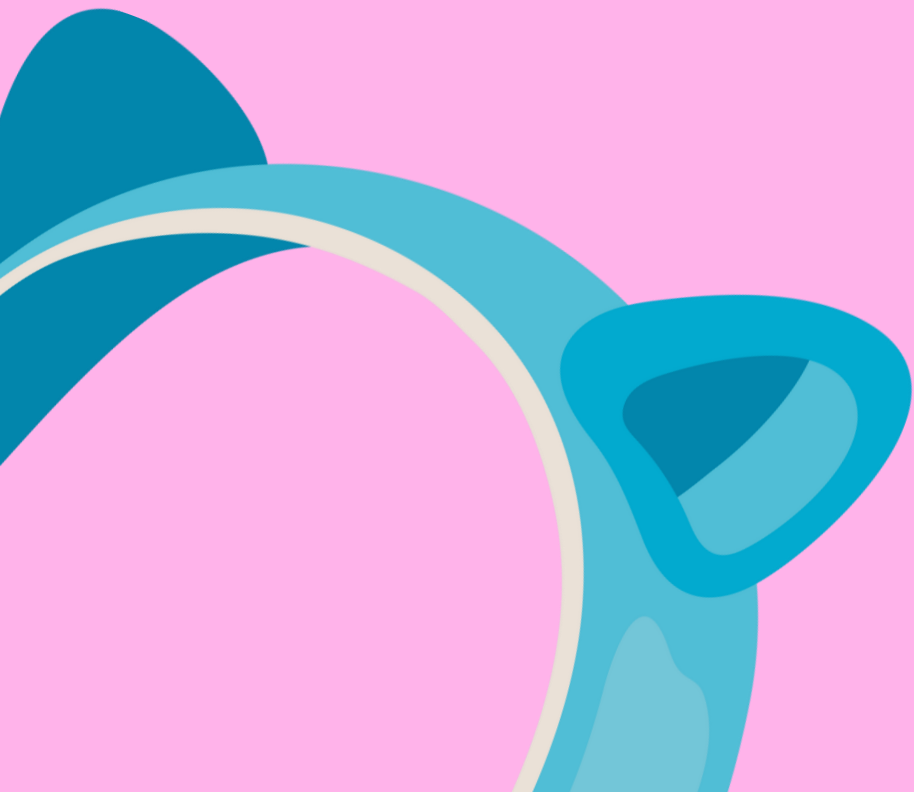

Example: I went to the park, for I needed some fresh air to study better.

AND

“And” is used to join words, phrases, or clauses that are alike or equally important.

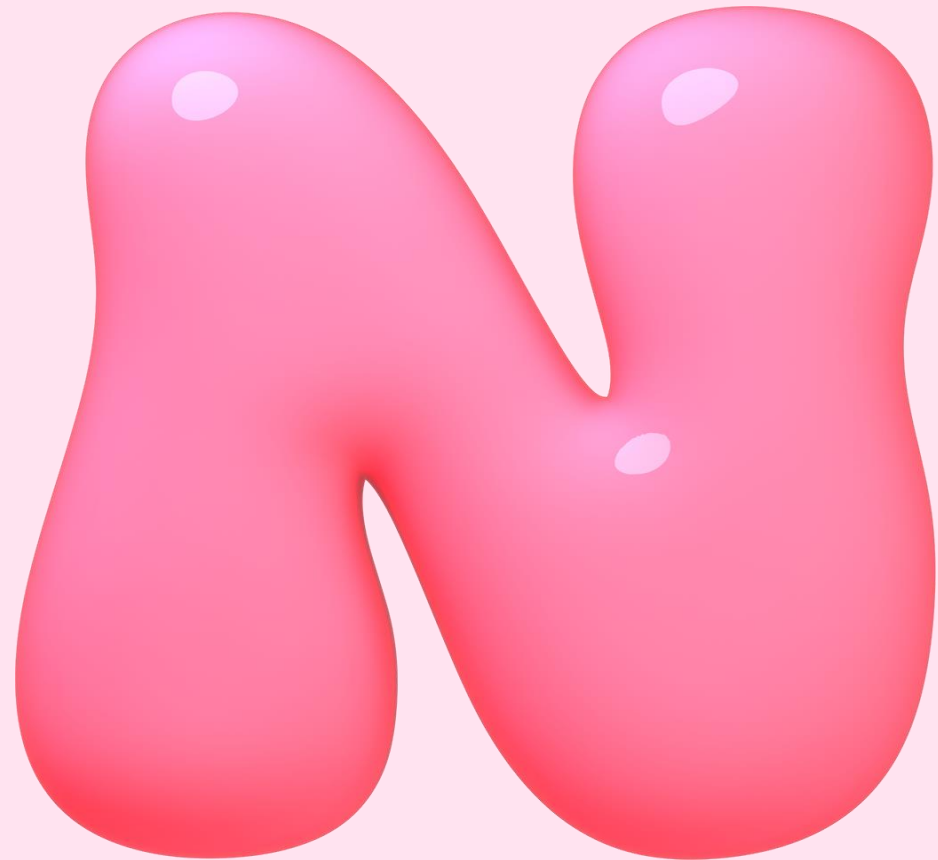

Example: He loves fashion and creating new designs for every season.

NOR

“Nor” is used after a negative statement to add another negative choice. Essentially, it connects two negative ideas.

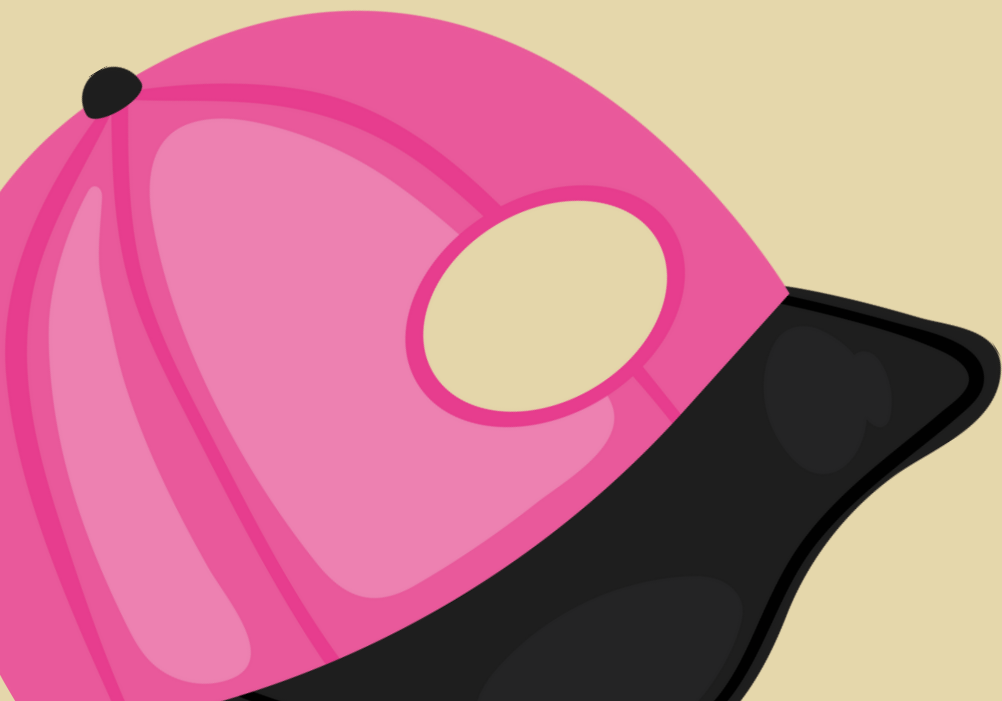

Example: I don't want to read a book now, nor do I want to watch a fun series.

BUT

“But” is used to connect two ideas that are different or opposite. Use “but” when the second idea surprises us or changes the first idea.

Example: She wanted to go to the pool, but she didn't know how to swim.

OR

“Or” is used to show a choice or an alternative. Use “or” when you must decide between two options.

Example: At breakfast, it is difficult to decide on something sweet or savoury.

YET

“Yet” connects two ideas that seem opposite or unexpected.
“Yet” is like “but,” but it sounds more surprising or stronger.

Example: They tried to walk 5 km, yet it was too much for them.

SO

“So” is used to connect a cause to its result. The first idea happens and the second idea happens because of it.

Example: I was really tired, so I decided to take a nap.

TIME TO PRACTICE!

Get ready to read some sentences and pick the right option!

USING FANBOYS

We decided to have a barbecue. it started to rain.

a) So

b) But

c) For

d) Or

USING FANBOYS

We decided to have a barbecue it started to rain.

a) So

b) But

c) For

d) Or

USING FANBOYS

I have to go to the market there isn't enough milk.

a) For

b) So

c) And

d) Yet

USING FANBOYS

I have to go to the market for there isn't enough milk.

a) For

b) So

c) And

d) Yet

USING FANBOYS

They were tired, they decided to continue sightseeing.

a) Nor

b) But

c) Yet

d) So

USING FANBOYS

They were tired, yet they decided to continue sightseeing.

a) Nor

b) But

c) Yet

d) So

USING FANBOYS

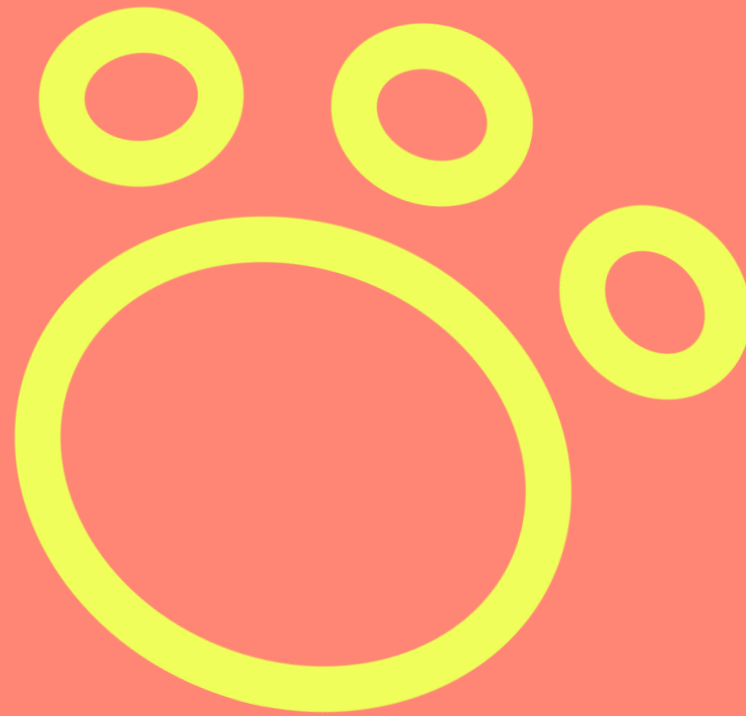

He loves cats he looks for fun info about them.

a) And

b) For

c) Nor

d) So

USING FANBOYS

He loves cats so he looks for fun info about them.

a) And

b) For

c) Nor

d) So

USING FANBOYS

You don't like carrots do you enjoy carrot cake.

a) But

b) Nor

c) Yet

d) So

USING FANBOYS

You don't like carrots nor do you enjoy carrot cake.

a) But

b) Nor

c) Yet

d) So

USING FANBOYS

Would you prefer cloudy sunny days?

a) Or

b) And

c) Yet

d) But

USING FANBOYS

Would you prefer cloudy sunny days?

a) Or

b) And

c) Yet

d) But

USING FANBOYS

I like seeing the sky the stars.

a) So

b) But

c) And

d) Or

USING FANBOYS

I like seeing the sky and the stars.

a) So

b) But

c) And

d) Or

INTERACTIVE

Conclusion

For

And

Nor

But

Or

Yet

So

- We have 7 different conjunction words that we can use in a variety of sentences to help connect our thoughts
- We can remember the 7 conjunction words using the acronym: FANBOYS

FANTASTIC!

